

ABSTRACT

A partial almanac collection system is disclosed. The partial almanac collection system includes a global positioning system ("GPS") module, and a controller in signal communication with the GPS module and the call processor, the controller instructing the GPS module to collect piecewise almanac data in response to a request from the call processor.